***** IF YOU WANT TO CREATE YOUR OWN CHANNEL CHAT SERVER, download and extract it. Create the chat server using the included file. Read the readme.txt file for the server's initialization. When finished, restart the chat. Make sure the chat's online service is working by opening the chat's online manager. Chat is now ready. Login to your own server and start a chat. *** Any changes in this application, including new updates, will be done in this application: for example and . IF YOU WANT TO CHAT WITH THIS CHAT CLIENT, download from any image hosting. Put it in the same directory as and execute them. The user's login dialog will be displayed. Enter the correct login details and press OK. *** If you have your own server, you have to create another chat client. For help on this application, check the BFG Chat Help Window. NOTE: THE CHAT HELP WINDOW IS NOT ALWAYS VISIBLE. IF YOU CAN'T SEE THE CHAT HELP WINDOW, check the window tooltips. This version: About BFG Chat Client *** The user's login dialog is now slightly different: instead of "Login for a channel / for a private chat", a list of user's avatars will be shown (with a possibility to select one of them). After clicking on a user's avatar, he will be selected and his chat settings will be shown. *** The window tooltips are located near the needed list of avatars. For example, after clicking on the list of avatars, you'll see: "Select A Message" Where can I see this button? *** The full output messages are now stored in the same place as the log: instead of locating the log in "Windows/System/Log/bfg_log.txt" you'll find it in: "Windows/System/Log/output.txt" *** A password is now selected in the window: "Preset passwords" *** If you can't find the help button in the main window, close the main window

What's New in the BFG Chat Client?

1. There is a "Recent Images" window, where you can see a list of images in the main chat window and in private-talk windows. 2. There is a "Recent Images List" window, where you can see images in the default channels list. 3. In "Recent Images List" window, when you select an image, an attached image viewer or RichView opens. 4. When you select a file in "Recent Images List" window, a network connection dialogue opens. Selecting "Connect" connection opens up the list of available servers in the network. You can use local names or IPs as servers. 5. Channels and skins are available on each server. The list of skins is available in the "Settings" (See the next paragraph). 6. A special window "Private talk" is available for private messaging. Private talk window allows you to communicate with other registered users, in which images may be viewed on a special list. The registration of this window to the server part is done by you. 7. The main window has special frames. There are the following frames: the "Recent Images" window, the "Recent Images List" window, the "Settings" window, "Alerts" window, the frame "Actions" with big icons. These icons are ActionMessages. ActionMessages are described in the next paragraph. 8. In "Alerts" window, you have two frames. The first frame is "Alerts Manager". You can place icons (buttons) in "Alerts Manager". By clicking one of the buttons, it will open the list of all available alerts (for example, new messages). You can also set the frame "Alerts Manager" to be full-screen, so that the frame contains no other elements. 9. The second frame is "Chat history". You can hide this frame. 10. When you click the frame "Actions", it will open the "Actions" window. You can place there icons (buttons) which will do different actions. 11. You can move icon buttons using the right mouse button. 12. The main window and the "Recent Images" window have the frame "Audio Input". In this frame, you can set the audio input. 13. There is an "Alerts Manager" frame in the "Alerts" window. 14. There is an "Audio Output" frame in the "Alerts" window. 15.
