Simplify3D 4.0.0 [Multi] Download Pc Simplify3D 4.0.0 [Multi] Download PcPages Saturday, November 15, 2010 5.15.2010 So I have been working on learning how to crochet some more. I also learned how to thread my needle over the last weekend. I really like to needlework, but haven't tried threading my own needle. I am very excited to try it out as I really want to make more things. This white scarf is my first handmade piece of crocheting. I really want to learn how to do some knitting as well. I just don't know if I have the patience to learn how to do that. I guess I will have to find a knitting master so that I can learn how to knit then. I bought some new fabric at the store today. I am in love with the Washi Quilted polka dot fabric. It was just too pretty to not buy. I also bought a little black flower fabric. I still need to sew on some buttons but other than that I think it will be a great addition to my stash. To wrap it up, I just want to remind you to head over to La-Cats Fabrics to find out more about their amazing fabrics. And if you want to chat with other stay at home mama's about your day-to-day, how tos and advice, hop on over to the Stay at Home Mamas group. I have been wanting to get back into creating new recipes. I decided to begin by making a coffee cake. I love coffee cake, but never really make one. I finally broke down and made one, then only realized that I forgot to get all of the ingredients I needed. Oh well, what's one more thing to buy? Also, I found a really good recipe at TeecakeTutorials on how to make banana bread. I have been wanting to make banana bread since I became a stay at home mama. While I was searching for a recipe, I saw that they had a new kitchen window and I got inspired to make some new recipes. I bought some new ingredients and I will show you what I made after I shop them. Here is the coffee cake that I started out with. It came out pretty good. I only used 3/4 cup of sugar. I baked this coffee cake for 17 minutes. It
